Our History

Since our formation in 1968, Protec has built a reputation for delivering reliable systems tailored to meet the demands of diverse applications. We have over five decades of expertise and have established ourselves as a leading force within the fire and security industry, recognised for our strong brand identity in fire and gas detection, fire protection and suppression, audio systems, and security solutions.

Today, Protec stands as one of the UK's most prominent life safety providers, supported by a team of over 900 dedicated professionals. We remain at the forefront of innovation, delivering cutting-edge products and exceptional services to meet our clients' complex needs.

Key Protec Moments

Our reputation is founded on delivering dependable systems designed to meet the demands of diverse applications. With over 50 years of industry expertise, Protec has achieved significant success in the fire and security sectors, establishing a strong brand identity across fire and gas detection, fire protection and suppression, audio systems, and security solutions.

Protec Corporate Values

At Protec, our company values are the foundation of everything we do, shaping our culture and guiding our approach to innovation, collaboration, excellence. These principles reflect our commitment to delivering exceptional solutions and fostering lasting relationships with our clients, partners, and team members.

Creativity

Creativity fuels innovation, inspires fresh solutions, and empowers our team to think boldly, driving growth and differentiation.

Respect

Respect forms the foundation of our relationships, fostering inclusion, collaboration, and a culture where everyone feels valued.

Reliability

We pride ourselves on being dependable, consistently delivering on our promises to build lasting confidence with our team and clients.

Communication

Open, honest communication is key to our success, ensuring clarity, and strong connections across all aspects of our business.

Trust is at the heart of everything we do, enabling authentic relationships and a reputation for integrity and dependability.

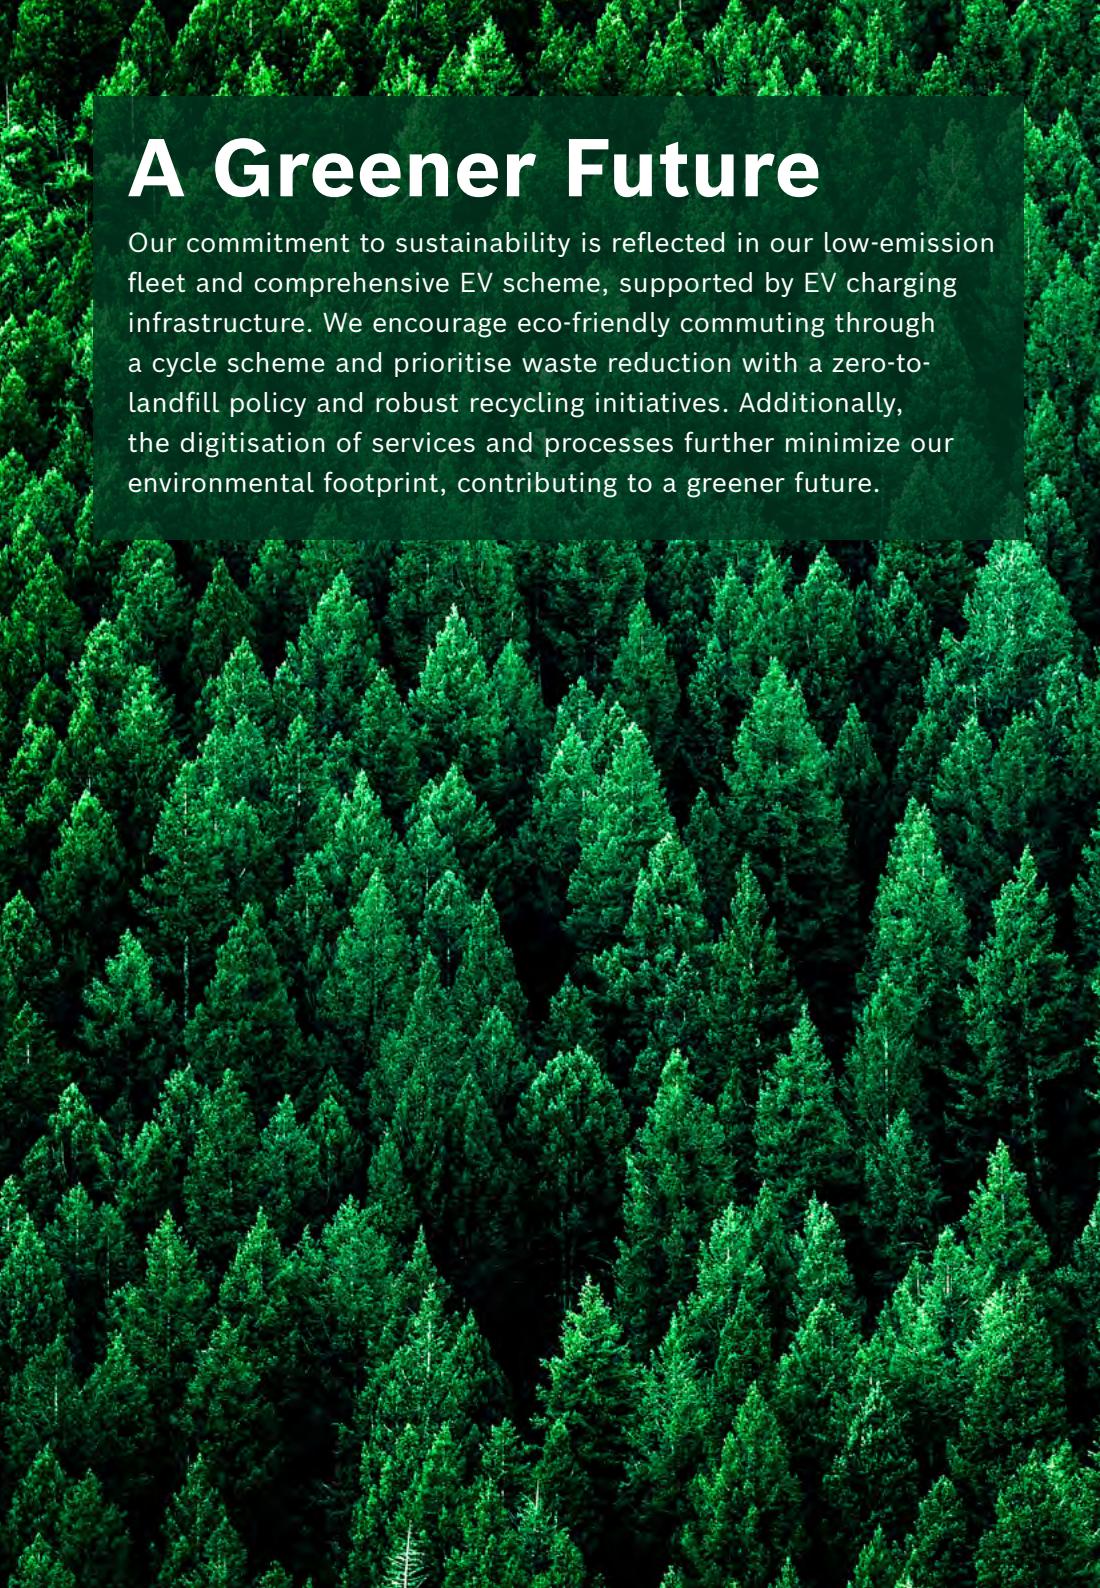

Protec Culture

With over 50 years in business, Protec has grown in success while preserving its warm, family-orientated culture. The flat communication structure fosters a strong team culture which encourages all employees to voice their ideas and suggestions to improve the experience of colleagues and clients alike. This approach drives innovation, ensuring ideas quickly become reality, reflected in our industry-leading products and services. Our family culture supports high staff retention, strengthening our teams as experienced employees advance and new talent joins.

With a commitment to excellence, our carefully selected delivery teams ensure world-class results tailored to each project and client's unique needs.

A Greener Future

Our commitment to sustainability is reflected in our low-emission fleet and comprehensive EV scheme, supported by EV charging infrastructure. We encourage eco-friendly commuting through a cycle scheme and prioritise waste reduction with a zero-to-landfill policy and robust recycling initiatives. Additionally, the digitisation of services and processes further minimize our environmental footprint, contributing to a greener future.

Safety is Paramount

Safety is at the core of our product installations, supported by detailed technical manuals. These resources are designed to ensure that every Protec product is installed correctly and securely, minimising risks and enhancing reliability. Clear, safety warnings empower installers to work confidently and avoid potential hazards. By prioritising precision and clarity in our documentation, we uphold the highest safety standards for every installation.

Sectors

We understand that export projects come with diverse requirements and challenges unique to each sector. Our expertise spans various industries, enabling us to deliver tailored life safety and security solutions alongside comprehensive project management services to meet global standards.

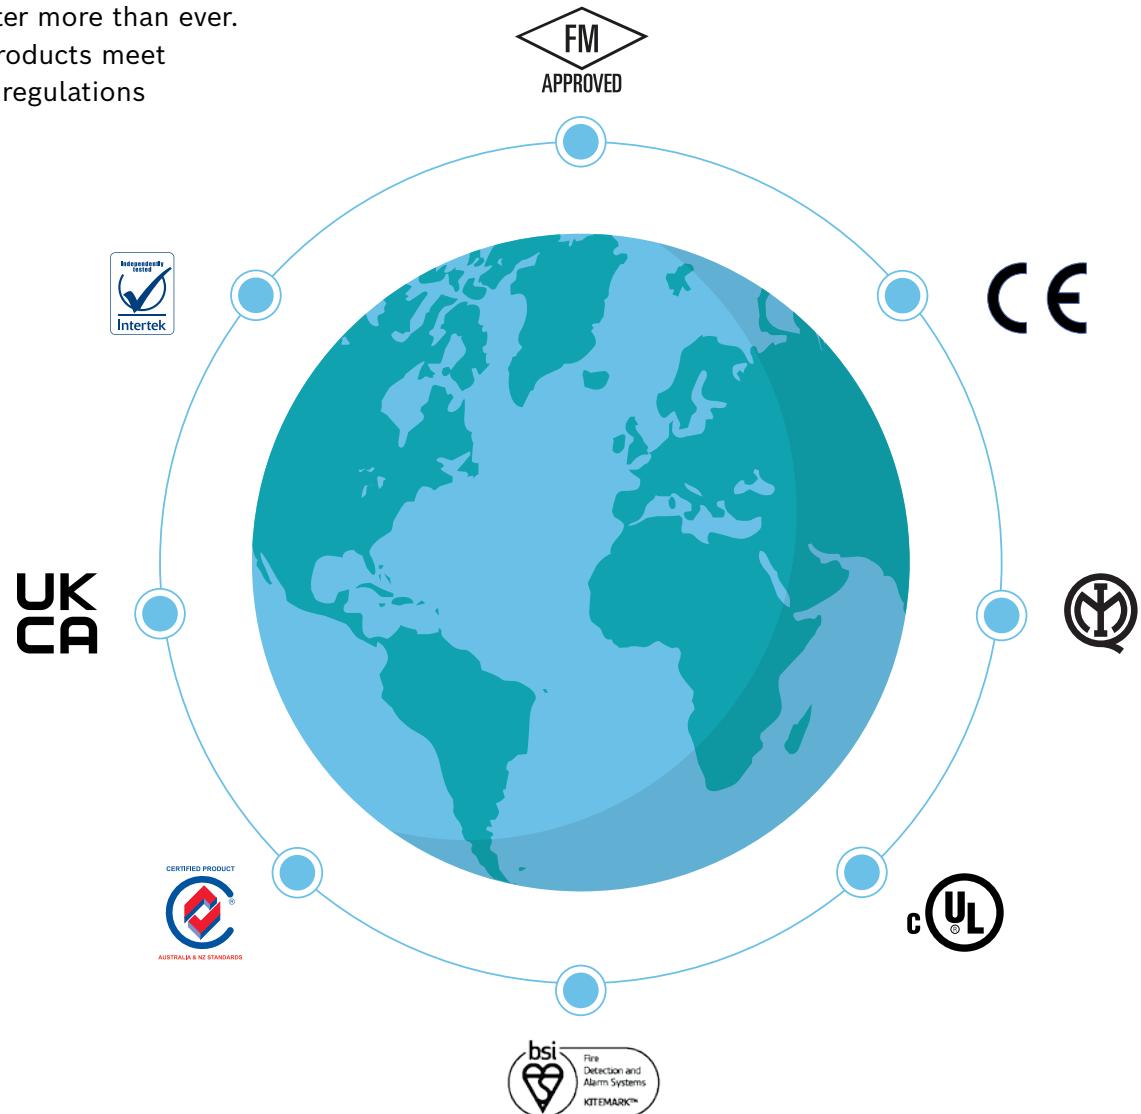

A World Full of Approvals and Accreditations

Collaboration is critical today, where approvals and regulations matter more than ever. We work closely with various global industry bodies to ensure our products meet the highest standards and accreditations while adhering to industry regulations and best practices.

Our products are designed to meet current British Standards expanding to meet other global specific needs and requirements. We easily navigate the complex landscape of standards and regulations. Our tailored approach ensures that our products are precisely tuned to the market's demands while maintaining the highest levels of quality and compliance.

Commitment to excellence drives us to engage with industry bodies continuously. Through this ongoing collaboration, we provide products that meet and exceed industry expectations to build trust and confidence with our customers world-wide.

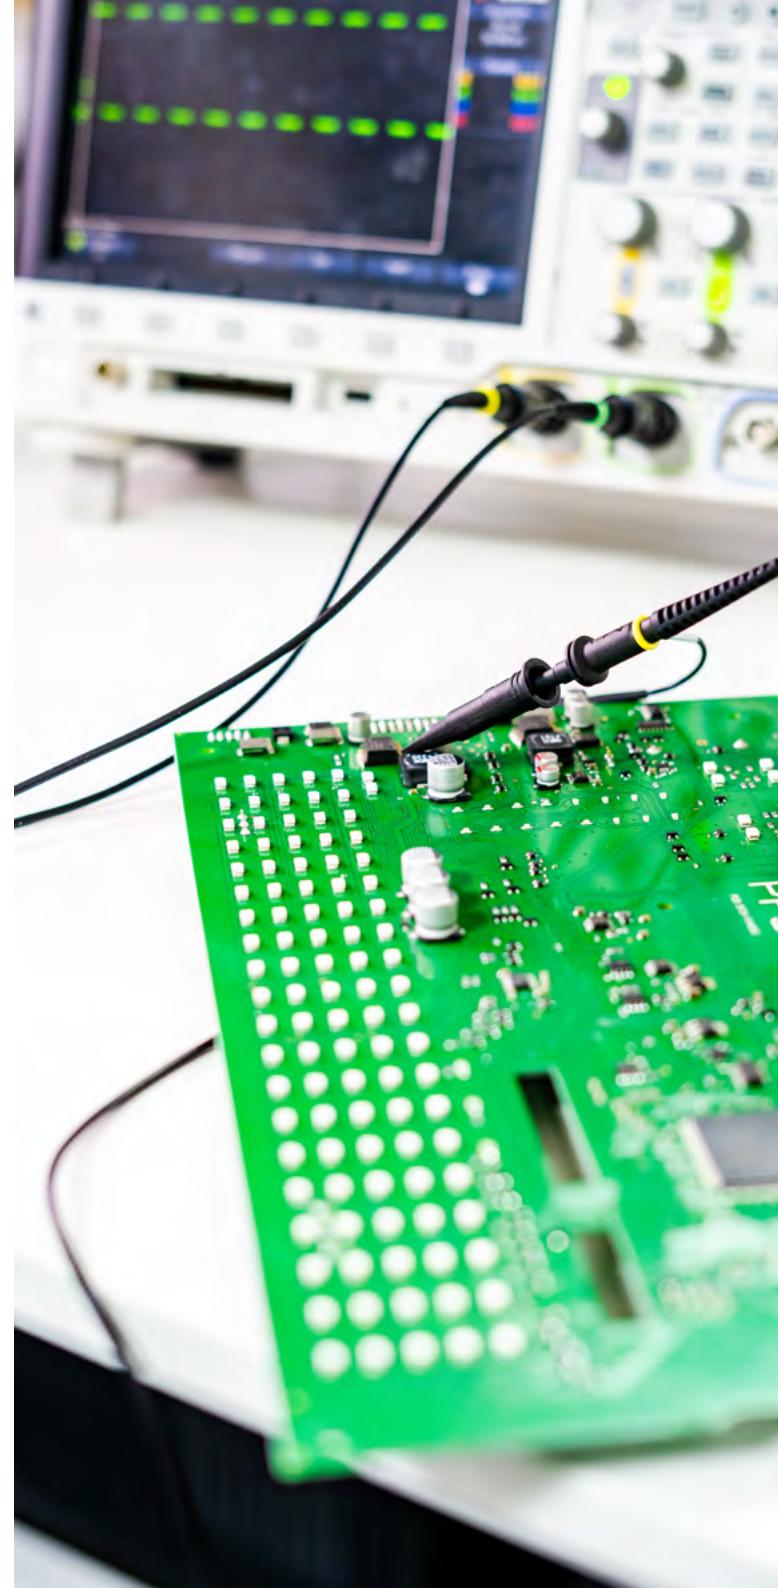

Research and Development

Innovation drives everything we do. Our commitment to advancing life safety products ensures we remain at the forefront of the fire and security sector—an industry that continually evolves with new technological breakthroughs. Over the years, we've witnessed the transformation from basic three-wire "Break Glass" systems with bells, to fully comprehensive digital addressable fire alarm systems. Protec has not only adapted to these changes, but led the way by developing state-of-the-art products setting industry benchmarks.

Our product success is powered by our dedicated Research and Development team, which includes physicists, mechanical and electrical engineers. Together, they transform innovative ideas into groundbreaking fire safety solutions tailored to meet your specific needs. From concept to creation, our R&D team collaborates with our manufacturing experts in a purpose-built production facility, enabling us to design, develop, and produce advanced systems of unparalleled quality and reliability.

Our focus is on advancing the fire and security sector through innovation and collaboration. By staying ahead of industry trends and leveraging our expertise, we ensure our products meet both current and future challenges. Whether developing the next breakthrough or addressing specific requirements, we are dedicated to delivering reliable and effective solutions.

UK Manufacture

Life safety systems rely on a network of smaller, critical devices and equipment. These components are essential to the smooth operation and upkeep of the system. Timely access to replacement or additional equipment is vital, as delays can disrupt safety measures.

At Protec, we are proud to be one of the few UK-based fire alarm companies that both design and manufacture our products. Our purpose-built manufacturing complex in Lancashire operates in an ISO 9001 certified environment, utilising advanced manufacturing and testing processes to ensure the highest standards of quality and assurance. This in-house capability allows us to maintain a robust inventory of equipment, ensuring shorter lead times for new or replacement components.

For our international clients, working with a UK manufacturer offers significant benefits. With our streamlined production and storage facilities, we can efficiently supply products to global markets, minimizing delays often associated with overseas sourcing. Our commitment to quality control ensures that every component leaving our facility meets stringent industry standards, giving you confidence in the long-term performance of your life safety system.

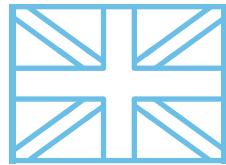

Whether you're integrating new equipment or replacing existing components, Protec provides the reliability and responsiveness needed to safeguard your building, occupants, and operations for years to come.

Why Choose Protec?

Beyond the UK, Protec's reach extends to over 70 countries through an extensive network of global partners. This international presence cements our reputation as a worldwide leader in life safety solutions, delivering unmatched expertise and reliability across borders.
