

- Emergency/Stewards Telephone Options
- Visual Indication Option Available
- Lockable or Push to Release Door Options
- Available in Flush or Surface Mount
- Weatherproof Option Available

The Fire Telephone is used by the Fire and Rescue Services and Building Operators to maintain communication at critical points throughout the building during emergency situations. It comprises of a red telephone handset, mounted in a RAL3001 signal red metal enclosure with status indication.

It is addressable to allow configuration of the system during commissioning to be carried out efficiently. The enclosure is available as flush mount or surface mount, with a lock or magnetic catch.

Model References

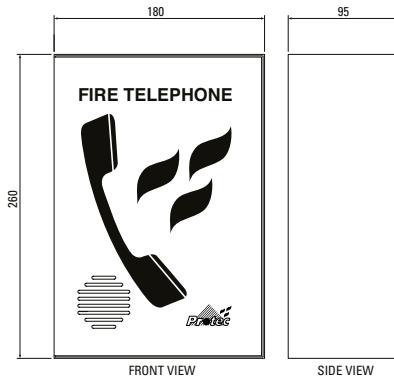

EVC/FTSL - Surface Mount Fire Telephone Outstation with lockable door.

EVC/FTFL - Flush Mount Fire Telephone Outstation with lockable door.

EVC/FTSNL - Surface Mount Fire Telephone Outstation with magnetic catch, non-lockable.

EVC/FTFNL - Flush Mount Fire Telephone Outstation with magnetic catch, non-lockable.

Dimensions (mm) - Surface Mount

Dimensions (mm) - Flush Mount

